

Adherium announces death of Chairman, Thomas Lynch

8 April 2020 – Adherium (ASX:ADR) announces with considerable sadness the unfortunate and untimely death of its Chairman, Thomas Lynch.

Tom had been Chairman at Adherium since joining the Board in September 2016, and the Directors and staff of Adherium send their deepest condolences to Tom's family at this very sad and difficult time.

The Board is actively considering a replacement and will announce that change likely before the end of this week.

About Adherium (ASX: ADR): Adherium is a provider of digital health solutions and a global leader in connected respiratory medical devices, with more than 170,000 sold globally. The company develops, manufactures and supplies a broad range of connected medical devices for respiratory medications for patients, pharmaceutical companies, healthcare providers and contract research organisations. Adherium's Hailie® solution is designed to help patients achieve better adherence and provide visibility to parents and caregivers. It does this by tracking medication use and reminding the user with helpful nudges when it's time to take doses, and by providing access to usage history to better understand patterns in their asthma and COPD. These tools ultimately enable people who live with asthma or COPD to more easily manage their condition alongside their physician. Learn more at adherium.com.
